An Adoption Meant to Be

Written By: Dawn Schroepfer

Within one month of losing our little dog Tucker boy, our home was empty. No more doggy kisses, no tossing tennis balls, no morning walks and no lap snuggles. Life as we knew it had changed. We were retired and our home was silent. Camping was different. Everything was different.

Our plan was to hold off adopting after fall/winter, then look. Traveling home from camping my sister-in-law tagged me on Facebook through the Oconto Area Humane Society. I realized it was the same stray dog they posted a few days earlier. Her tongue hanging out, her shaggy face, and her sad eyes made me want to just pick her up and bring her home. But as my husband said, "Not until spring". I called the OAHS and asked about her and I learned an adoption may be pending but come in and fill out an application. My heart sank but I was so happy she may have found a forever home.

by Amanda and Suzie Stray. Amanda asked if she could bring her in during the interview. We agreed. During the interview she sat on my husband's lap and they bonded so nicely! After the interview Amanda left the room and within minutes asked us if we'd like to adopt her since we seem to be a perfect fit! Without hesitation my husband said, "Yes, why yes we do. We'd love to take her home!" Upon arrival we realized there were some learning curves and areas we needed to work on. She was timid with others, she felt uncomfortable going for walks, and we worked on potty training. These were all time intensive but so worth it!

After 18 months our Kami girl is smart, happy, sweet, and friendly. Rescuing her brought life back into our home again.

Bunnies Galore!

2020 has proven to be the year of small animals for our shelter. Within the last 9 months we have had 29 rabbits enter our shelter. That beats last year's total by 21 rabbits. Our furry friends have not been limited to rabbits. We have had 48 rodents, fish, and little critters enter those shelter doors.

As you can imagine, we have gone through plenty of small animal supplies through the months. Oftentimes our small animals are overlooked when it comes to donations and supplies. If you would like to donate, visit our Amazon wish list to donate via mail. Our donation bin is also located in the parking lot for easy donating as well.
